Boosts Subsidies On Dairy Products

New and increased subsidies on dairy products to meet increased costs brought about largely by feed grain failures in whole milk and cheese producing areas were announced today by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

Beginning October 1 and continuing until next April 30, subsidies will be paid to dairy producers as follows:

1 Fifty-five cents per 100 pounds to producer-distributors of fluid milk and of such milk brought by distributors for fluid milk consumption as the agricultural food board may direct. The present subsidy is 25 cents.

2 Thirty cents per 100 pounds of producer-distributors of fluid milk and of such milk brought by distributors for fluid milk consumption as the agricultural food board may direct. No subsidy now is being paid, although 25 cents was paid in March and April of this year for milk to be used for condensed, evaporated or whole milk powder purposes.

3 Thirty cents per 100 pounds of milk used in the manufacture of cheddar cheese. This subsidy is new.

4 The eight cents a pound subsidy on butterfat will be continued until December 31, and 10 cents a pound will be paid from January 1 to April 30, 1944.

Officials estimated the cost of the subsidies, in the period October 1 to May 1, would be from $18,000,000 to $20,000,000.

Obituary.

Mrs. JOHN M. ALLEN

The death of Jennie, the beloved wife of John M. Allen, occurred quietly at her home at 2733, Selma Ave., Burnaby, B.C., on September 7th.

Mrs. Allen was an old timer in Didsbury district, having resided a few miles west of town for 29 years. Mr. and Mrs. Allen retired from the farm in December of last year, and early this year moved to the coast, taking up residence at Burnaby, B.C. She had a large circle of friends in this district who will regret to learn of her passing.

She is survived by her husband and two sons, John A., of Turner Valley, and Tompkins, of Burnaby, B.C. Also three grandchildren.

The funeral was held at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, and the pallbearers, who were almost all former Didsbury residents, were: Aard Orde, Ted Culling, Bill Allen, Eddie Krebs, Stanley Hardy and Dan McKee.

Apiarist Provides Bees With Sugar

Beekeepers are urged to apply to the Provincial Apiarist, W. G. Le Maistre, Terrace Building, Edmonton, for permits to supply sugar to winter bees, rather than to the ration office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Reserve Army Gives Demonstration

The Didsbury and Carstairs detachment of the 14th Army Tank Regiment, gave an interesting demonstration of Army fighting tactics, before a large crowd, on Monday evening, Lieut. Downey was in charge, with Sgt. Cullen acting as platoon commander, and Sgt. Umbach second in command.

The demonstration consisted of a combination pincer movement, frontal attack and flanking movement on an enemy post, and in a running commentary over a loud speaker system, Lieut. Downey explained the different movements. He also gave details of other phases of training undertaken by the reserve army. Lots of smoke and rifle fire made the demonstration quite realistic.

After the demonstration, moving pictures of the Calgary Regiment in camp and on the ranges, were shown at the Theatre, together with other films.

Weddings

HEDEGAARD--SPREEMAN

A very pretty wedding of wide interest in the Didsbury district was solemnized at the M. B. C. Church on Wednesday, September 8, at 1:30 p.m., when Beatrice Spreeman, youngest daughter of Mr. Isaac Spreeman and the late Mrs. Spreeman, of Drumheller, became the bride of Chris Hedegaard, pastor at Bingley. Rev. C. J. Hallman was assisted by Rev. Earl Archer, in the ceremony.

The bride looked very charming in floor length gown of white crepe. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Her embroidered net veil formed a coronet fastened with orange blossoms. The Matron of Honor, Mrs. McIlhatton, niece of the bride, was beautifully gowned in floor-length pink crepe and carried a bouquet of variegated sweet peas. Two dainty little flower girls graced the bridal procession looking very sweet in pale organdie dresses of pink and blue, carrying nosegays of flowers. They were Evelyn Nielson and Dolores Spreeman.

The groom was attended by Mr. Henry Nielson. Miss Gladys Eby played the wedding marches. Mr. Glenn Hallman and Mr. Ian Stauffer acted as ushers.

Before the ceremony, Dr. L. Seaman sang "Love is Shining", while Miss Mildred Traub sang "O Love Divine", during the signing of the register.

After the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served at the Bible School to about 80 guests. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Hedegaard left with friends for Calgary. Upon their return they will continue their duties as pastors in the Bingley field. Their many friends wish for them much happiness and success in their future activities in Christian service.

Mrs. Oke and children left on Tuesday for a ten-day visit to Calgary.

Dr. Clarke Heads Medical Association

Dr. J. Lester Clarke, of Didsbury, was elected president of the Alberta Division of the Canadian Medical Association, at the convention which was held at Calgary this week.

For many years, Dr. Clarke has taken an active interest in the Association, and his election as president brings not only honor to him, but also to the Didsbury district.

Game Bird Licenses Free to Service Men

Canadian and American military personnel stationed in Alberta may obtain a free game bird license within the province, E. S. Hostetler, fish and game commissioner, announced last week. They may shoot their bag of ducks, pheasants and other wild fowl on a free license, but a license for big game must be purchased at the prevailing fee of $3.00.

Cut Number, Not Size of Servings

Restaurant operators are reminded by officials of the Wartime Prices & Trade Board, that if their meat quotas are running short, they will be required to cut down on the number of servings of meat made, but are not permitted to reduce the quantity of meat offered at any one serving.

Mail Christmas Parcels Overseas by November 1

Christmas boxes will have a much longer distance to travel, entailing more handling and reshipment to reach many members of Canada's Fighting Services this year. To enable all the Dominion's men and women overseas to receive their Gifts from home in time for Christmas Day, the Postmaster General, Hon. William P. Mulock, K.C., M.P., calls on the public to Mail Early for Christmas Overseas - not later than November 1.

The date is ten days earlier than last year's closing time, but with many of our men serving in the Mediterranean areas, etc., the "deadline" has been advanced to meet the rapidly changing conditions.

The public are cautioned to lose no time but to Mail Early for Christmas Overseas - now and during October - the earlier the better to ensure the timely arrival of the anxiously awaited gift. The more distant our Forces may be from Canada, the earlier our Christmas mail should be sent.

Address all mails in ink, fully, clearly and without misleading abbreviations. Be sure to place return address on cover - also include a slip in the parcel bearing sender's address as well as address of parcel. Prepay all mail correctly.

Citizens, by refraining from writing to our Forces overseas that gifts are being sent, until actually mailed, can save much disappointment. Do not disappoint our men by mailing their gifts too late for Christmas delivery.

I.O.D.E. Scholarship won by Douglas Wordle.

Mons Chapter I.O.D.E. are very proud to have another scholarship won by a local boy.

Two years ago, Don Mortimer brought a similar honor to Didsbury. The I.O.D.E. feels that educational work is even more important now than prior to the war, and they are continuing it in addition to their war work.

This year the I.O.D.E. has awarded six Coronation Bursaries for University students, valued at $400.00 each, and six Marshall Bursaries for Normal students or girls in training for nursing, valued at $100 each.

Mons Chapter congratulates Douglas, and wish him every success in his studies.

The Superfluity Shop is to re-open on Saturday, October 2nd. As most people probably know, it is established at Mr. Studer's store.

This year, the I.O.D.E. is taking it over.

If you have any clothing, dishes, or anything saleable, please leave them at Mr. Studer's store, or get in touch with any I.O.D.E. member.

Last year, the Junior Red Cross ran the Superfluity Shop, with splendid results, turning in a substantial amount to the Red Cross.

The I.O.D.E. hope you will all continue to give the Shop your interest and patronage throughout the coming year. Meet your friends there and bring along your contribution. If you haven't anything to bring, come anyway. We welcome you, and you never know what bargain may be awaiting you. Your patronage and assistance will be greatly appreciated.

The last meeting of the Mons chapter was held at Mrs. Foote's on Monday, September 13th.

It was interesting to note the Mons Chapter was founded on September 8, 1926, and are fortunate in still having two of the original members, Mrs. Chas. Mortimer and Mrs. A. R. Kendrick.

Lots of Ducks; Very Few Shells

By hunting up all the odd corners of the house and shop, a few of the boys managed to retrieve a few shotgun shells of other years, and were able to enjoy a little duck shooting on the opening day, Monday.

A. G. Studer was out early and bagged a few, finishing his quota in the evening.

Russell Ady, Ed Watkins, together with a traveller friend, each got their limit.

A. G. Studer demonstrated the conservation of ammunition, by bringing down four fine mallards with one shot.

They report more ducks than for many years, but where to get the shells is the question.

Some farmers seem to be able to qualify and can get a few shells, but for a townsman, how to get shells is a $64.00 question.

Mr. A. J. Hliker, of the Calgary Herald, and Mr. B. E. Caniff, of Calgary, came up to try their luck on the ducks. Guided by Jim Cathness, they managed to get some good shooting.

The United Nations

THE PHRASE "THE UNITED NATIONS" is now a commonplace one, yet perhaps few who use it realize its full significance. Less than two years ago it had its beginning in a band of nations held together by their belief in the cause of freedom. Since that time the bonds between those countries have tightened, and their pledges have been translated into action which is spelling the doom of the Axis nations. Thirty-two sovereign states now make up the United Nations, and their combined resources have been built into the powerful war machine which is moving to destroy the aggressor nations in all parts of the world. Geography has made it difficult for all the thirty-two nations to maintain close contact, but groups have been formed among neighboring countries, and the whole has been co-ordinated through Great Britain, which serves as a link between the Old World and the New.

All Resources Are Combined

The English speaking peoples have formed one group, in which Britain, the Dominions and the United States have combined their economic resources and their fighting strength. Five boards administer the economic affairs of this group, and the combined boards confer with representatives of Russia, China and the other United Nations. The Lease-Lend principle, originated in the United States, has become the basis of co-operation between the United Nations. Great Britain's reciprocal aid to the United States now equals that given by the United States to Britain, and Russia has benefited greatly under this plan. Geographical difficulties have so far prevented China from receiving greater quantities of supplies in this way, but when these difficulties are removed, powerful assistance will be given to that gallant member of the United Nations.

Striking Force Now Very Great

Additional groups in the United Nations include the Pacific War Council, which sits in London and Washington. Great Britain, the United States, Australia, New Zealand, India, China and the Netherlands are represented on this council, which although not an executive body, makes the wishes of the governments concerned known to the chiefs of staff and the central committee of the United Nations. The countries of the Americas have joined in a Pan-American Union, and since 1941 Canada and the United States have been combining their entire resources for war production and defense. In London, for the past three years the representatives of the governments of the occupied countries have been co-ordinating their efforts with those of the other groups of the United Nations to bring about the defeat of the common enemy. A year ago, a treaty between the United Kingdom and the Soviet Union brought about a fuller degree of co-operation and understanding both in the prosecution of the present war, and for the organization of security and economic prosperity in Europe after the war. The results of the combined efforts of all these nations is now apparent in a powerful fighting force which can with confidence take the offensive on all the war fronts.

Remember China

Help That We Can Offer Is Surely Needed By A Stricken Nation

Bombs cannot conquer the Chinese. Time has proved that—the last six years of Japan's cruel war on them. Out of the ruins and rubble of destruction, the life of a new and better China is being born. But the birth is slow and painful, and China's vitality, splendid though it is, needs stimulation and support from the Western world.

In Canada, the Chinese War Relief Fund is organized from Coast to Coast to transmit aid to China. This month it is asking the Canadian public for $1,600,000 to be used for a vital program of Chinese relief and rebuilding. If Canada's sympathy and admiration for a wonderful fight are transmitted into dollars, the objective will be reached and passed with ease.

Canadians may argue about this and that, and different sections may have different ideas on many subjects, but Canadians are of one mind and heart in tribute to the unbounded courage and sheer physical doggedness of the Chinese people. The very name of China is synonymous with gallantry.

The teeth of the minnow are in its throat.

Always Looks Calm

Churchill Feels Deeply But Never Shows His Emotions

The secret of Churchill is to be found, we believe, in his calm, unemotional approach to the great questions before the United Nations and before his country. It is revealed in the determined way in which he carries on under all circumstances. This is not to say that Churchill is not a man of deep feeling. He is. But he does not expose his feeling to public gaze. He dresses his emotions in one of the finest vocabularies used by any public figure. Thereby he inspires and encourages those it is his task to lead through the greatest crisis in world history. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Speaks Russian

Sir Archibald Wavell Is Fluent In Language Of Soviet

In view of the part which Russia will play in world affairs in the future, it is perhaps not inopportune to refer to an incident that took place in Moscow recently when Sir Archibald Wavell was one of the guests at an official banquet, states the London Evening Standard. Called upon at the last moment to speak, Sir Archibald proposed the health of Stalin in fluent and flowing Russian. Stalin, apparently unaware that the then C-in-C. India knew the Russian language, showed his pleasure in no uncertain fashion afterwards he was seen in deep and intimate conversation (in Russian) with the new Viceroy.

LOST THE PLANS

City Councilman Harold Harby of Los Angeles, drew plans for a device to silence crowing roosters. The instrument kept the rooster from stretching his neck. No stretch, no crow. But the plans have been lost or stolen. Perhaps it's just as well. The inventor admitted that the gadget, if improperly applied, makes a rooster give a fire alarm scream.

Research Work In Canada Is Proving Of Great Value In The Struggle Against The Axis

IT'S a long way from National Defence Headquarters to the shores of Sicily, yet much of the ground work and research of the former is proving its value as Canadian troops cross the Axis doorstep. Not the least of this groundwork has been done by the battery of skilled Army and civilian draughtsmen in the Directorate of Engineer Development.

In the past 10 months since its re-organization the Directorate of Engineer Development has initiated some 26 projects in the development field, eighteen of which have been successfully completed, 13 rejected, 27 under current research.

This branch of the Canadian war machine may be likened to a gigantic laboratory; it is constantly working to improve equipment of the Royal Canadian Engineers, develop and test new inventions, and act as technical advisers to the General Staff.

New turns in camouflage, bridging, diamond drilling, and tunnelling are but a few of the many projects this busy branch is interested in.

They maintain close liaison with comparable departments among the United Nations and they ensure that Canada keeps abreast of all the promising ideas in the Engineering aspects of modern warfare. Neither do they overlook the best of the ideas produced by the enemy.

The Directorate of Engineer Development is successor to the former Directorate of Engineer Services which functioned until June of last year. At that time D. of E.S. supervised both the requisition of equipment and of operations for the R.C.E. at home and abroad. Now these responsibilities are shared by the D. of E.D. and the Directorate of Works and Construction. The latter consolidates all matters relating to construction in Canada. The Directorate of Engineer Development provides Engineer equipment both at home and abroad.

The Directorate is headed by Colonel E. C. Thorne, R.C.E., who is responsible to the Quartermaster-General, Major-General H. Kennedy, M.C., via the Deputy Quartermaster-General, Brig. N. O. Lambert. Colonel Thorne came to this Directorate from the M.C.O. Branch. The Directorate's bridging section is headed by Mr. R. C. Manning who is Chief Engineer of the Canadian Institute of Steel Construction. He has been loaned by the Institute for the duration.

Preserving Wild Fowl

Jack Miner Demonstrates His Theory About Saving Birds From Extinction

For the last five years Jack Miner, the Canadian Naturalist at Kingsville, Ontario, has been making a special effort to save wood ducks from extermination. For years past they have been so nearly extinct that the Governments of both U.S. and Canada have not allowed them to be shot. Jack Miner says that a wood duck and a golden pheasant are the most beautiful birds on earth.

Special nests have been built on the on the Jack Miner Sanctuary and wood ducks have taken to nesting in them and have been successful in raising their young. As soon as the wood duck lays her eggs, Jack Miner takes them and places them under mallard ducks or buff cochin bantams, that act as step-mothers. In this way, instead of the wood ducks laying 12 or 15 eggs and spending the rest of the summer raising this brood, Jack Miner, by taking the eggs, raises from 35 to 50 young wood ducks. This method Jack Miner jokingly calls "speeding up production".

One school of thought would call this "interfering with Nature" or "upsetting Nature's balance". Jack Miner calls it "assisting Nature". His theory is that God puts birds and animals here for man's use and control and, with wood ducks so near extinction, he feels that he is helping Nature restore this most beautiful bird.

Jack Miner has these artificial nests all around his home, several only a few feet from his residence and this year he has fully 500 young ones on his ponds.

A New Vegetable

Cross Between Carrot And Beet Introduced In Holland

The Netherlands Press Agency says a new root vegetable, the "wobbe"—a cross between a carrot and a beet, and reported to contain three or four times as much vitamin C as either—has been introduced in Holland. Large areas have already been planted to "wobbe".

This is the first new vegetable to which agriculture has fallen heir for a whole generation.

Canadian Paratroopers Now In Britain

Canadian paratroopers, trained at the United States Army Parachute School at Fort Benning, Georgia, recently arrived in Britain, along with many other troops. Here on the deck of the ship on which they sailed are four of the Canadian paratrooper officers. Left to right are, Capt. R. A. Smith, of Montreal; Major D. H. Taylor, of Montreal; Capt. H. M. McLeod of New Glasgow, N.S.; and Major D. J. Wilkins of Toronto.

The Social And Also Economic Betterment Of The World Will Depend On The Children Of Today

THERE has been a great deal of talking and thinking and planning for the new and better world that we hope to build when we have brought to an end the bitter tragedy of this war. But the social and economic betterment of which we dream may fail before the stark fact that the world can be only as good as its children. If the children of today face the future with warped minds and warped hearts that spring from starved and warped bodies, if they have found in the world they know no gentleness or kindness or pity or helpfulness, what can we hope for our brave new world?

In the worst of the grim days of the Battle of Britain, its people knew that their courage was equal to the ordeal, if the children were safe. So the greatest mass migration of the children began to the greater security of the country, to the safe lands of Canada and the United States. If Canada and the United States, if we wasn't hard to find people to care for them, for the hearts of the world were pitiful for children who must suffer for the sins and follies of their elders, and because they knew that the world lives only through its children.

When the people of Britain had to face the stern ordeal of the Battle of the Atlantic, when they saw themselves faced with a terrifying shortage of food, they tightened their belts without any failure of morale and with little grumbling. There was only one pressing thought: Could the children have enough? Could they have the food that their bodies demanded?

In June, 1941, Lord Woolton, chief of the British Ministry of Food, made his appeal by radio to the millions of Canada and the United States. "Will you do without cream in your coffee so that little children may have the milk they need?" The next morning the Kamen Clubs of Canada laid aside all their other activities and concentrated on "Milk for Britain".

We are not singling out this organization for any special praise. There is no place in these days for arguments as to who is doing the most. We mention it because it has focused its effort on the matter of which we are speaking, the needs of the children. Their first shipment was a matter of 78,000 quarts of dried milk, and they pledged themselves to ship a million and a half quarts in the year. In that year they shipped four and a half million, and not one quart of it was lost in transit. Because of this and other agencies, the health of the children of Britain, for all the hitting of Hitler's Luftwaffe, is better than it was before the war. That is one of the reasons that gives us confidence in our better world.

But a world is not a world of the people of Britain, or of Canada, or the United States, or Australia. The world is everywhere, and the children of the world are its great and only hope. So we are sure that the people who have responded so freely and so generously for those of their own kin—for the children of Britain—will give no less freely and no less generously for children everywhere, for Greek children, for French and Polish and Dutch children. Yes, and for the German and Italian children, too.

We do not fight a war against children. We do not foster a hate against them, whatever the sins and shortcomings of their parents. Children everywhere, whether they are our own or the children of our enemies, must be protected, else we cannot hold ourselves blameless if we lose the promise of the better world we have suffered and sacrificed and died to bring into being.—From The Liberty Magazine.

Got It Wrong

Some Misconception About The Drought Areas In West

We can sense from comments in the press in the East and even in North Alberta that there is a lot of misconception about the so-called drought in Southern Alberta and Southwestern Saskatchewan this year. Some people are actually pitying us, so far from the real thing is their conception of what the Weather Man has done to us.

The fact is that South Alberta as a whole will have about two-thirds of an average 17 bushel wheat crop this year—that is, about 11 to 12 bushels to the acre, which is about as much as we expect to sell in the present crop year. And with 50,000,000 bushels of old wheat, some of it two or three years old, on the farms and in the elevators on the Lethbridge railway division, we really do not rate the sympathy which is being showered on us.—Lethbridge Herald.

The World of Wheat
by H. G. L. StrangeFALL PLOWING

More and more farmers are beginning to realize that the most precious asset they have for producing a good yield of any crop on our prairies is the accumulated moisture in the soil. Rains which occur after harvest and until freeze-up, usually from August 1st until November 1st, are of great value for making next year's crop.

There are two agencies tending to use up this moisture before the next crop can have the benefit of it. One is WEEDS and the other is PLOWING. If, therefore, land which is to be cropped next year is fairly free from weeds, farmers would do well not to plough in the fall; indeed in my own opinion, from what I have learned from my study of crops, I do not hesitate to suggest that fall plowing should only be done if the growth of weeds is extremely bad, for each time the land is turned over by a plough, we can be sure that much precious moisture is evaporated into the air. If the land, however, contains a moderate quantity only of weed plants then a shallow cultivation—not plowing—as early in the fall as possible will usually induce many weed seeds to germinate, and so many of the young weed plants will be killed by the winter frosts.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

The Dominion Government warns that Canada's immense grain stocks probably will be none too great for anticipated needs on this continent—General rains are impeding harvest operations in Western Canada—A great deal of Argentine's accumulation of wheat has been allocated for animal feed purposes or for fuel in place of coal.

U.S.A. plans to increase her 1944 wheat acreage by 16 million acres—Turkey expects a splendid yield of all cereals owing to exceptionally favourable weather conditions—Canada's flour production for last year was the highest on record.

Maximum Prices Of Potatoes Set

Under the new Wartime Prices and Trade Board order establishing maximum prices of potatoes, the following prices are now in effect in Alberta, as the highest possible ceiling, although officials expect that in most areas potatoes will sell well under the established prices.

Maximum delivered price of grower or shipper for other than netted gems in 100 lb. containers is $2.25 for Canada No. 1 large; $1.85 for Canada No. 1; and $1.65 for Canada No. 2.

The established price differential for netted gems in the province is 20 cents increase per 100 lbs., and 15c increase per 75 lbs.

Wholesaler selling to retailers may add a markup of 15c per 75 lb. container, and 20c per 100 lb. container, this markup may not exceed more than 15% of the selling price.

Retailer's markup in sales to consumers are set at 40c per 100 lbs.; 30c per 75 lbs.; 25c per 50 lbs.; 12c per 16 lbs.; and 8c per 10 lbs. or 8-10c for less than a 10-lb. container. Grower or shipper selling direct to the consumer may add this markup to the price at which he may sell to a retailer.

Over the Fence is Out In Rationing

Exchange of ration goods is made illegal through a new WTB order. It is also now illegal for persons to use coupons to buy rationed goods give away except to members of the Armed Forces outside Canada, the Merchant Marine, or relatives living outside the Dominion.

Highlights of the new ruling also include surrender of a ration book when any person leaves Canada for 60 days.

Hotel guests must now turn over their ration books to the management after a fortnight.

Consumers must destroy all expired coupons.

Consumers may leave ration books or sheets of coupons (stub in book signed) with their retailer who will take the responsibility of detaching proper coupons after sales to that customer.

Plum jam sold by William Wilkie, Harry's groceries, Bruderheim, cost the consumer slightly more than the maximum price, but in the end it cost Mr. Wilkie $10 or 14 days, when he was found guilty of violating prices regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in Edmonton Police Court last week.

"Wheat Varieties, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow"

Red Fife should be remembered with respect, since it was largely responsible for establishing our reputation for high quality wheat. It shattered badly and was so late that fall frost was an annual peril. Its doom was sealed by the stem rust epidemic of 1916 when it was already on the way out.

Marquid did not shatter, was early enough to escape many frosts which would have ruined Red Fife, and it certainly suffered less from stem rust. Plant breeding had made great strides, but stem rust was still causing enormous losses. Earlier varieties, notably Ruby, Reward and Garnet were distributed and served a useful purpose in some areas. Kola and Cereza had a measure of resistance to stem rust, but it remained for Thatcher to do to Marquid what the latter had done to Red Fife.

Now, in Manitoba, Regent and Renown are displacing Thatcher by virtue of their resistance to leaf rust.

These improvements have been achieved by a small body of the best agricultural scientists at a cost of, probably, much less than one concerned bumper year!

The most important hurdles now confronting the wheat breeder are wheat stem sawfly and drought. I have no hesitation in asserting that these two problems are more difficult than were late ripening and stem rust. Indeed, the drought hazard can never be removed, though it will be reduced. Enormous quantities of breeding material must be handled and many different crosses investigated. If wheat growers are wise, they will see that this item is prominent in post-war government budgets.

Egg Money For Savings

Egg money, the odd bushel or two of surplus seed grain, and part of the proceeds from the sale of a calf from the farm of Mrs. James Entwistle, of Parkman, Sask., are helping to win the war. Mrs. "Jim" Entwistle, sums for her regular purchases of Victory Bonds, which link up the various members of the family who are serving Canada in uniform. A Plucky Captain

Early in Last War Refused Coal To German Warships

Sombody has recalled, a tense little drama enacted in the Sicilian port of Messina so long ago as August, 1914.

Shortly after our declaration of war the two German warships, Goeben and Breslau, put into Messina in a pretty desperate hurry for reconnoitering. Their haste was quite explicable. They had been detailed by a far-seeing German Government to make a bolt for Constantinople, there to overawe or impress the Turks in favor of the Central Powers. They had to run the gauntlet of our Mediterranean fleet, and their situation was critical.

In Messina harbor was an old collier, the Wilster, under charter to a German firm. Promptly the captain of the Goeben ordered her to hand over her cargo of coal to the two German warships. But the skipper of the Wilster, a stout-hearted British seaman, said he would let them have a painful, and laughed in their faces when the German officers used threats. Finally he confined the whole German race to the devil, and ordered them off his boat.

The German warships borrowed some coal from two German freighters, and just managed to get through to the Golden Horn. But the Wilster's meter, Captain Eggers, deserves "a place in the story."

Douglas Wordie, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wordie, has been awarded one of the six bursaries to the University of Alberta, given by the Provincial Chapter of the I.O.D.E.

These bursaries, which have a value of $400.00 spread over three years, are awarded to students having the highest marks in Grade XII in the Province. There are open to all students and three are awarded to sons and daughters of returned veterans, Douglas being in the latter category.

This is the second time one of the I.O.D.E. bursaries has been awarded to a student of the Didsbury High School, Don Mortimer having received the award two years ago. This reflects great credit on the students and staff of the Didsbury Schools.

Fast Work

There dwelt a lonely bachelor beside the Red Deer river. The shades of night were falling fast, and out of tune his liver. When near his lowly shack he sat, in sombre reverie, as was his wont at close of day, beneath a jackpine tree.

"This single life is hell", he mused, "the loneliness, I fear, will put me in the funny-house inside of one short year. No kiddies prattle at my knee; no wife adorns my door. With filling up on tasteless grub I'm sickened to the core. My system's sadly on the blink, I'm all but lost," sighed he, "and I don't give a hoot for anyone else, since nobody cares for me. O, for some woman kind and good my humble lot to share; to cook and sew some buttons on and drive away despair!"

"Hello, big boy!" a soft voice spoke, so close it made him start. And lo, a city flapper bold out angling for a heart. So fabbergasted was the guy, his feeble brain grew dizzy; all quickly noted by the maid who right at once got busy. A fetching glance she flung his way, he caught it on the chin, and took the count right there and then, this man of woe and sin.

The world by now had gone to roost, up rose the pale love moon. No better time, she rightly guessed, to throw a luring "spoon". Her "line" of cooing, flattery speech, how smoothly off she reeled. And "bait"—two pursed-up scarlet lips—no treacherous barb revealed. She teased him round a time or two, when (sad here to relate) discretion lightly cast aside, he nibbled at the bait. Then swallowed hook and "line" as well—as, that fatal "spoon"—just one more sucker joined her string of booby that bit too soon!
